1. This problem follows the discussion in the class. A cache memory has 16 blocks and each block has 2 words. There are 1024 words in the main memory, the following program (note the multiple loop times) is to be executed:

What will be the hit rate for each of the mapping approaches we discussed in the class? Note that when employing the set associate mapping, use the 4-way mechanism.